

PROPOSE NEW
PLAN OF ACTIONMediators Still Hope to Solve Mexican Problem.

DETAILS ARE KEPT SECRET

South American Diplomats Are Carefully Guarding Outline of Proposal by Which They Hope to Break the Deadlock Between the American and Mexican Delegates.Niagara Falls, Ont., June 22.—The mediators proposed a new course of action which not only will prolong the proceedings, but eventually may work out a solution of the Mexican problem.The nature of the plan which is designed to prevent the deadlock between the American and Mexican delegates from abruptly ending the conference has been guarded more closely than anything which has transpired at the conferences.It became known, however, that another effort was being made to bring the Constitutionalists into close touch with the purposes of mediation without formally admitting them. The suggestion contemplates separate conferences between the American delegates and representatives of the Con-stitutionalists. Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann would continue their dealings with the Huerta delegates through the mediation board.
In this way all elements in the Mexican situation would be drawn together and there would be no necessity for the declaration of an armistice until some agreement was reached and approved by the Constitutionalists.It was reported that the Washington government already has extended an invitation to General Carranza to send his representatives to Niagara Falls, N. Y., to confer with the American delegates, but confirmation is lacking.Beyond saying that a definite step had been taken, which had raised their hopes, the mediators were silent.

VILLA IS BUSY DENYING

Scouts Rumors of Execution and Presidential Appointment.Torreón, Mex., June 22.—Rumors that General Angeles has been proclaimed provisional president and that General Chao was executed were denied by General Villa."The story that I executed General Chao is a malicious lie," declared General Villa. "General Chao is with the division of the north at Zacatecas and far from dead. Two days ago he was a guest at my house and the two of us parted on the best of terms.
The story is a fabrication. I must say the same of the rumor that I proclaimed General Angeles provisional president of the Mexican republic."

THINKS DISCUSSION FUTILE

Carranza Opposes Bringing in Mexican Internal Affairs.El Paso, Tex., June 22.—General Venustiano Carranza has forwarded his reply to the two notes of June 2 and 5 sent him by the mediation commissioners at Niagara Falls, it was learned here.Carranza's note, it is understood, reiterates his willingness to have participated in the various conferences whose sole object he recognized to be the pacification of Mexico and whose good offices he tentatively recognized.
The futility of the discussion of Mexican internal affairs, however, is pointed out.

the head and the boy's parents and four children were bruised. Two tires blew up as the machine struck a crossing.

BERTHA VON SUTTNER.

Austrian Writer and Peace Advocate Dead.DEATH TO BARONESS WHO SOUGHT PEACEBertha von Suttner, Writer and Nobel Prize Winner, Dead.Vienna, June 22.—Baroness Bertha von Suttner, the Austrian writer who had devoted most of her life to peace and who was awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1905, is dead.Baroness von Suttner had been ill three weeks. She was undergoing a cure for obesity which her constitution proved unable to bear. She gave instructions that her body be cremated at Gotha, without religious ceremony, speeches or flowers, her ashes to be deposited in a columbarium there.
Born in 1843, the daughter of Field Marshal Count Franz von Kinsky, the baroness became noted as the editor of Lay Down Your Arms, the magazine of the national peace bureau in Bern, which was named after a novel written by her in 1888, designed to spread the idea of peace throughout Germany and Austria.When a girl Baroness von Suttner was betrothed to Prince Adolf Wittgenstein, but he was killed in battle.
In 1876 she was married to Baron von Suttner, who died in 1902. In 1912 she spent six months in the United States, where she delivered a series of lectures to promote the cause of peace.The baroness at one time was secretary to Dr. Alfred B. Nobel, who established the Nobel foundation, and as a champion of the Brotherhood of Nations is said to have been the inspiration that prompted him to offer his peace prize. She was a member of the advisory council of the Carnegie Peace foundation.

BROTHER SLAYS BROTHER

Massachusetts Killing Is Climax of Forty Years' Quarrel.North Reading, Mass., June 22.—A forty years' quarrel over timber land came to a climax when Charles Samuel Harris, a farmer, was shot to death by his brother James.After the shooting James gave himself up to the police. He said his brother had attacked him with an axe in an argument about cutting the timber on their land and that he shot in self-defense.According to the statement of James Harris to the police, although the two brothers lived together forty years, they always had been at odds over the disposition of the timber.

WOMEN ROUGHLY HANDLED

London Police Have Busy Time Protecting Suffragettes.London, June 22.—Suffragette baiting has become the regular Sunday amusement of London crowds. The police were kept busy in Hyde park protecting the women and escorting them to places of safety. Various suffragette meetings were broken up and the speakers were hustled from the platform with threats of a ducking in the Serpentine.Little discrimination was shown and several women spectators were subjected to rough treatment. The disorders finally became serious and the police were obliged to use their truncheons to disperse the rioters.

OPPOSITION TO LEASING.

Legislation on Question Is Perplexing, but Must Be Met Face to Face at Some Early Date—Congressman Fess of Ohio Tells Why There Can Be No Pan-American Control.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 22.—[Special.]— After all that has happened this session, both houses of congress are hesitating to take up conservation legislation because no one can tell when debate on that subject would end. The house could get through with it, but the talk in the senate would go to great lengths.The dissatisfaction of western men with the conservation methods that are now in force, such as the withdrawal of public lands everywhere and in such large quantities, has been disagreeable to them. They would like to have the lands that are available for settlement and for the use of the people released so that they might be utilized. The same is true in regard to waterpower sites, coal and oil lands.

Opposition to Leasing.

The question of leasing these public lands is also one that will cause a great deal of discussion. It is the idea of the ultra conservationists to have the government retain control of the lands and lease them. Those opposed to that system say that neither coal, oil nor other lands will be developed on the leasing basis because men will not put their money into properties where the leases could be terminated at the will of the government. Many of the western men say that the only benefit the leasing system will bring about is in favor of the large cattle men as against the small landholder and settler, where vast tracts would be leased for cattle ranges.

Must Come Some Day.

And yet this whole conservation business must be thrashed out some day. The present conditions will not be allowed to continue, for they are not satisfactory either to the conservationists nor to the people in the states where the public reserves are still owned by the government. As long as settlers are demanding homes and public lands are not available because they are withdrawn for forest reservations and other purposes there will be agitation on this subject.

How Little We Know.

Once in awhile a plain, hard fact is brought out which shows how little we know about the things that are under discussion. Only since the Mexican situation became acute has it been learned that the white population of that country is comparatively small.
Just the other day in a debate about South America and the influence it ought to have in American affairs it was developed by Congressman Fess of Ohio that the continent of South America with its 35,000,000 people only had 8,000,000 white people. There were 17,000,000 Indians and 10,000,000 negroes. The Ohio congressman was arguing that those countries could not be invited into a joint convention of American control under the Monroe doctrine or any other pan-American proposition.

A Question of Rank.

Commenting upon the methods of the senate the vice president in a somewhat whimsical mood pointed out that only a short time ago when a bill was under consideration the senate spent an hour on the question as to whether a professor was of a higher rank than a doctor. Mr. Marshall regards these discussions as part of the pleasures of presiding over the senate.

A Disputed Question.

"The house is now the intellectual superior of the senate," was a remark of Congressman Garner of Texas. He did not go into comparisons to show that this was true, and there are too many standards upon which judgment could be rendered. However, the senate never would concede that the house is superior in its intellectual attainments. On the contrary, it would point out that some of the best members of the senate have graduated from the house. But a man like Garner would say that in some cases the intellectual average has been increased in the house by the transference of these members to the senate.

Did Not Know It Was In Him.

Congressman Roberts of Nevada sprang a surprise on the house one day by making a speech which was full of humor and political sarcasm. He talked some of mediation and of investigations, and there have been many investigations by congress during the past three years. He thought it would be well to create another board of mediators, to be known as the X. Y. Z. mediators. Among the subjects which he said this body should consider were the questions of platform pledges, party promises and platforms and other subjects, such as "back peddling, mediating, hesitating, dictating, straddling, backbiting, double crossing, double dealing, dealing from the bottom, etc."The speech was enjoyed by the house even if it was partisan.

Well, So There Ought.

The world is full of people who keep insisting that something ought to be done.—Pelican.

PARTLY DEVOUR MANTheatrical Manager Enters Cage of Wild Beasts.Chicago, June 22.—Emerson D. Dietrich of Brooklyn, manager of a theatrical production presenting a troupe of trained lions, was killed and partly devoured by six lions when he entered the car in which they were caged.
While keepers were trying to recover Dietrich's body from the beasts a lion escaped from an adjoining cage and terrorized residents of the thickly populated quarter in which the car stood.The escaped lion finally was driven back to the car, having harmed no one.A pike pole from the fire department finally was used to withdraw Dietrich's body from the lions, after it had been sprinkled with formaldehyde to drive the animals away.George McCord, keeper of the lions, was unable to help Dietrich.
The lions were owned by Madame Adgie Castillo, to whom Dietrich was engaged to be married. She declared she formerly had taken care of the animals herself and said none of them ever had given indications of being vicious. She attributed the attack to the fact that the car was quite dark when Dietrich entered.

MILLIONAIRE SAVES FOUR

Goes to Rescue of Persons When Launch Capsizes.Appleton, Wis., June 22.—Defying swirling waters of the Fox river, higher now than in any June in recent years, Albert W. Priest, millionaire pulp and paper manufacturer, ignored the admonition of river men and others and, in a frail row boat, the only available craft for immediate use, went to the rescue of four persons who in midstream had been thrown from a launch, which capsized when its canopy top caught on the bottom of a railroad drawbridge. The four whom he rescued were Mr. and Mrs.
Peter Hanson of Oshkosh and Herbert Reinick and Adolph Garson of Chicago. The accident was witnessed by several persons, none of whom would venture on the turbulent river in a row boat.

RINES ADMITS PREUS WINS

Republican Candidate for State Auditor Secures the Nomination by About Nine Hundred Votes—Incomplete Returns Indicate How Congressional Contests Will End.St. Paul, June 22.—D. W. Lawler, who, on the face of the official returns, has been defeated by between 800 and 1,000 majority by W. S. Hammond for the Democratic nomination for governor, said that he has received messages from all over the state urging him to watch the official canvass closely."I feel certain that a great many mistakes have been made," said Mr.
Lawler. "I will watch the tabulation closely."In the event that Mr. Hammond's majority is less than 500 it is expected that Mr. Lawler will feel it his duty toward those who have voted for him to ask for a recount. Asked as to this he replied: "Should I have beaten Mr. Hammond by only 500 there is no question but that he would have served notice of contest."Mr. Lawler said that if it is eventually decided that Mr. Hammond has been chosen he will support him in the election next fall.

Rines Concedes Preus Wins.

Henry Rines conceded the nomination of J. A. O. Preus for state auditor. Preus' final majority will total about 900 votes, with 200 of these second choice votes of Block enthusiasts.The closest congressional fight in the state occurred in the newly made Tenth congressional district on the Democratic side. Harry S. Swenson of Minneapolis leads A. S. Dowdall, a young Minneapolis attorney, by thirty-two votes, with Pine county still to report. Swenson's vote is 1,661; Dowdall's, 1,629. The winner of this contest will fight it out next November with Lowell E. Jepson, former state senator from Hennepin county, to see who will be the first congressman from the new district. Jepson defeated J. Adam Bede by a comfortable majority for the Republican nomination. The unreported vote of Pine county will not affect that result.Sidney Anderson leads his former secretary, Ole M. Levang, by 5,000 for the Republican nomination in the First congressional district, with Moyer county unreported. Mr. Anderson will be re-elected, as neither Democrat nor Socialist has filed.

Ellsworth Defeats Haycraft.

Franklin F. Ellsworth, a young Mankato attorney, defeated State Senator Julius E. Haycraft for the Republican nomination in the Second district. Mr. Ellsworth has twice before gained the nomination only to be defeated by W. S. Hammond, now the Democratic nominee for governor.
Jean A. Flittie, another Mankato attorney, is the Democratic nominee, who will oppose Ellsworth this fall.
J. R. Hollister of Sleepy Eye will run as a Socialist.C. R. Davis and Fred C. Stevens were nominated in the Third and Fourth districts respectively without opposition.In the Fifth district George R.
Smith, the present member, defeated Ernest Lundeen by the vote of 11,205 to 9,243.Three counties are missing from the Sixth district, but Charles A. Lindbergh, the present member, has defeated his opponent, H. J. Maxfield, by more than 3,000.In the Seventh district Andrew J.
Volstead, the present member, had no opposition and will not have at the general election.In the Eighth district only Carlton county has reached the secretary of state, but Clarence B. Miller is an easy winner over his rival, James P.
Boyle.In the Ninth district, Becker, Marshall and Norman counties have not yet reported, but Halvor Steenerson, the sitting member, wins out by several thousand over his opponent, Luther Osborn of Glyndon.

DANCE ORDINANCE

STIRS YOUNG FOLKS.

+ Sioux Falls, S. D., June 22.—
+ The dancers of Utica are up in

+ designed to regulate dances.
+ The ordinance provides that + no person shall conduct a pub-

+ Utica is the only town in the + state which requires a license + for dances. The young people + are excited over the ordinance

"GET TOGETHER IS OUR DUTY"

The duty of the moment is for the real friends and inhabitants of Brainerd and Crow Wing county to "Get Together." We believe there is enough militant sentiment in the city of Brainerd in favor of improving of Crow Wing's heritage of land, wonderful agricultural and dairy opportunities, to amply justify the putting through of the proposed Minneapolis, Mille Lacs & Northern railway knocking at our door. The committee which was appointed for the purpose of visiting Minneapolis to investigate all of the claims and statements made by representatives of the road, will report next Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. It is understood their report is a favorable one.

To open up this territory, rich in its own natural resources, to make it more commercial, more valuable to every inhabitant in the county, we must have one thing, accessible to all-efficient transportation.

This is a crucial time in Crow Wing county. Shall we grasp the opportunity and go forward, or shall we decline with only nominal population gains each decade? The fact that railroads of the United States have planned to put upwards of $25,000,000.00 into electrification speaks for itself. The proposed line has every requisite for commercial success, location, construction, proposed equipment and terminal connections.

Crow Wing county has been slow to exploit herself and there is no time like the present to begin. There can be no permanent growth without means of satisfactory transportation to bring the people here, to market produce at lowest expense, for advertising the rich lands, mining properties, beautiful lakes and clear streams, the wonderful agricultural possibilities, fruit raising and dairying. We need to bring the county closer together, get the people better acquainted; we need to realize more fully our advantages, our opportunities, our natural wealth and our possibilities.

To fully realize all these, the spirit of get together, act together, think together and stand together should be most prevalent. The small factional interests that sometimes appear upon the surface of things must be forgotten and entirely done away with. We must not always live in the present, thinking only of ourselves today, but think, act and stand together for tomorrow, the future. The prosperity of this county is our prosperity, paying dividends to every one of us. The progressiveness of the county is our progressiveness, bringing us forward step by step. The proposed railroad should be our railroad. It opens up a rich section of our county, it gives us efficient transportation for our products at nominal low rates; it will bring additional wealth, stimulate better business conditions, help us in ways in which we need help and bring better conditions to every one of us. The proposed road is a railroad. It is just the same as any other railroad, differing in but few respects. It will be a gasoline-electric, of standard gauge, using seventy foot combination baggage, express and passenger cars, and will go after the short hauls. It will intensify the population in our city and adjacent territory.

This is an important time in the history of Brainerd and Crow Wing county. We can go forward by leaps and bounds, or we can stand still and simply gather each ten years a small additional population.

If the Committee's report, when made public, is a favorable one and the claims that are made for the road are substantiated, then we should hesitate no longer, but get together and help as much as we can.

IT IS OUR DUTY.

MUSIC AND DRAMAAt the Grand

Tonight and tomorrow night is shown "Douglas of the Veldt", a three reel drama laid in Africa. It deals with the Boers and their desperate struggle to establish themselves. Wild animals have been used and the actors have taken desperate chances in making this feature a success. It opens with Edna Mason is left alone with her baby boy. Leopards sneak to the house and you will see her with only the glass of the window keeping out these dangerous beasts. The story is laid upon the love of an English officer and a Boer maiden. She is forced to marry a farmer of that country. He is very brutal. Years later she leaves him and on the way is captured by natives. She is about to be burned but is rescued by the same English officer. It all ends well. This film is highly recommended and was personally selected. This three reel feature is shown for 5 and 10 cents.

For today only the Columbia offers the public a Vitagraph special in 3 parts and 2 Lubin comedies. An orchestral program of great merit has been arranged suitable for the Vitagraph play. This play has just recently been released and is a sure enough winner.

Levels of Atlantic and Pacific. At certain stages of the tide the levels of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans at the isthmus of Panama differ materially. At Colon the difference between high and low water is not much more than twenty-three inches, while at Panama it is generally thirteen feet and at times as much as nineteen feet. The current that would be produced by this condition of things in a sea level canal would seriously interfere with navigation, but under the present arrangement of a locked canal the difficulty is obviated. The Suez canal presented no such difficulty, the difference in tide level at Port Said and Suez being of a trifling nature.—New York American.

MARINETTE, WIS., GETS CONVENTION

Lutheran Free Church of America Votes to Hold Next Annual Conference There

EIGHT CANDIDATES ORDAINED

Fagerborg, Christiania, Norway Church Sends Greetings to Conference and Candidates

Marinette, Wisconsin was voted the next convention city of the Lutheran Free Church of America, now holding a national convention in Brainerd.

On Sunday afternoon eight candidates were ordained by Rev. P. Winter of Minneapolis and they were assigned these congregations: Rev. Conrad Christenson to Bayfield, Wis.; Rev. Ellef Christiansen to Gowan, Saskatchewan, Canada; Rev. John Michaelson, to Bethesda and Zoar congregations, Minneapolis; Rev. Edward Sand to Ferry Point, Alberta, Canada; Rev. Peder Konterlie, to two congregations at Ortonville and Beardsley; Rev. Lars Hornpland, missionary to China; Rev. Endre Skaar to Berthold reservation, North Dakota.

Missionary M. A. Pederson, of Santalistan, India, spoke on missions and $225 was raised. Prof. J. H.
Blegen, of Minneapolis, spoke on the Nethesda home and $100 was raised.

The Fagerborg, Christiania, Norway church sent greetings and best wishes to the conference and its birth-ren in America and to the newly ordained ministers.

Rev. T. Moen, of Clitherdale, Minn., one of the oldest pastors of the church, was given a surprise party and presented with a purse.

At the English conference a report on the work in general was read by the president and Prof. J. L. Nydahl, of Minneapolis, read a paper on the Sunday school work.

N. N. Ronning, Prof. J. L. Nydahl and Rev. J. E. Lobeck, were re-elected as Sunday school committee.

Rev. Hans Caspersen's paper, which is given in another column, laid stress on the great importance of using the English language in the church work among the children and the young people.

Prof. G. Sverdrup, president of Augsburg seminary, was granted one year's leave of absence in order to study in Norway and other European countries.

The six Norwegian Lutheran church associations in America are considering their union into one great body.
The Norwegian Synod, the United church and the Hague may effect a union. The Free church committee presented a report to the conference on its negotiations with a committee of the United church. The latter aims at an organic union while the Free church wants only a better understanding and co-operation in purely religious work.

A pension union may be organized, a meeting of ministers expressing themselves in favor of such procedure.

Saturday evening a grand concert was given at the tabernacle. Prof.
Teodor Reimstad, of Minneapolis, sang several tenor solos. There was a violin solo by Edwin Harris Bergh, songs by the male chorus of Bethlehem Lutheran church and selections by its orchestra with other numbers by local and church talent. Miss Jennie Wilson presided at the piano.

On Sunday ministers in attendance at the convention occupied pulpits in Brainerd.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the delegates were given an auto ride about the city.

The Dispatch has been greatly indebted to Prof. J. L. Nydahl of Minneapolis, of Augsburg seminary, for the courtesies extended in giving news items of the convention.

ON THE WORK IN ENGLISH

Rev. Hans Caspersen, of Aitkin, Speaks of English Work in Lutheran Congregations

At the English conference of the Lutheran Free Church of America,
Rev. Hans Caspersen, of Aitkin read a paper on "English Work in Our Congregations." He summarized these points:

1. The necessity of being sympathetic towards English work.
2. Necessity of showing due deference toward the Norwegian language.
3. The necessity of preaching in English.
4. The necessity of English Sunday schools.
5. The necessity of starting mission churches in English.

In his address he said:

The so-called English problem I suppose has been with us ever since Norwegians settled among the English speaking people of this country.
It has not been a very pressing one all that time, but it has very naturally been present. However, things are different now from what they were a generation or so ago, and whether we like it or not, the fact is that a transition is taking place, changing conditions, having no mercy with cherished ideas, forcing itself forward with the power and authority of a natural law. We are little by little becoming more and more Anglicized.
It is easy to see how this comes about.
The children that grow up among us go to the public schools, where the language is English; they learn to read and write and think in the English language. They spend the biggest part of their time under the influence of the English language, and consequently they become "Englishized." I know that in most of our homes the Norwegian influence is as yet prevailing, and the parochial school is largely conducted in the Norwegian language, but the duration of the same is far too short to be able to any great extent to counterbalance the Anglicizing influence of the public school.

This Anglicizing progress would proceed at greater speed, if it wasn't for the fact, that there is yet quite a number of people coming over from Norway every year; the emigrants keep this Anglicizing somewhat in check, but not as much as formerly, and less and less every year. And so the English problem is with us, and we have to do the best we can with it.

There are two radically different and therefore opposing attitudes among our people, which I think we have to combat. The first attitude is the radically Norwegian. That is to say, the Norwegian element in our churches look upon any attempt to meet the demands for English work with great disfavor. A class in English in the Sunday school is thought unnecessary; an occasional sermon in English is tabooed; and it seems that they are not quite sure whether the English Bible is really God's word. But it is safe to say, that for a church to shut out all kinds of work in English is not far from self-destruction; it will tell against that church some time in the future.

And there is the other attitude, the radical English. Some people are trying to force the English language to the front; they speak it at home to their children, or try to, and they look askance at everything that smatters of Norwegian, as though it were something defil-ing to have anything to do with it.

Both of these positions are very wrong and a hindrance to progress.
To those ultra-Norwegians I would say that they are unreasonable; they are kicking against the pricks, and that will not avail in the long run; then they are uncharitable, selfish, in so far that they think that they cannot profit by the English work proposed among them, they think that nobody else can, or ought to.

To the ultra-English ones I would say, that their attitude shows lack of appreciation of what the Norwegian language and the Norwegian element stand for. They have severed themselves from the roots from which they sprang; they are depreciating the value of Norwegian literature and history, and they are dangerously near that state of mind, which goes under the name of snobbery. By following their example we should drift from our moorings and lose our best traditions. We cannot afford unduly to force the English language upon our churches.

I take the middle ground, not only because it is a safe thing to do, but because it is reasonable and charitable. On the one hand we have to acknowledge that there is such a thing as an English problem, and that we are doing the wisest thing in trying to meet it to the best of our ability, and on the other hand to see, that unduly to force the English language upon the churches would be extremely unwise.

Probably in some churches, especially in the country, nothing definite has been attempted to meet the demands for English work; but it is safe to say that there is scarcely a church now, but where it is necessary to do some little work in English, either in the Sunday school or in the confirmation class or in the preaching services. In churches where children are being confirmed in English it is of course necessary to provide for their future nurture, they must have a chance to listen to preaching in the language in which they have received their religious instruction; and this it should be possible for them to do in the church to which they belong. Consequently, preaching services in English, are being held with more or less frequency in some churches. And this is as it should be. But right here we sometimes meet with an uncharitable attitude on the part of some people. Those who prefer English will probably go to attend an English service, and there it stops; although they would understand some parts of a Norwegian service, they prefer to stay away rather than attend. This is unkind and tactless. If those people looked at the matter in the right way, they would go to a Norwegian service even though they understood only a part of it; and on the other hand, those who only with difficulty could get anything out of an English service ought nevertheless to go for the sake of the others and for the sake of the work in general. It would not be such a sacrifice to either party as they sometimes imagine. An old Norwegian farmer, retired to a small town, said once that when he did not have a chance to go to a Norwegian service he went to a German church; he did not understand a syllable of what was said, but somehow he felt the spirit of the service, as he expressed it. Much can be done in this way by showing consideration and brotherliness towards each other, recognizing each other's needs and looking to the general welfare.

In the churches where there has been established English Sunday schools separate from the Norwegian, and separate confirmation classes are conducted, one will find the interest for a Norwegian service very small or none at all, even though they be of Norwegian parentage. Into such Sunday school and confirmation class will very naturally come children of other than Norwegian parentage, and the problem arises where to send them when they are confirmed. In such cases it may be found necessary to form a new church exclusively English alongside of the old one, if the means allow it, and this have been done in some cases. If no such church is formed, it is clear to see that these young people will leave our Lutheran church and affiliate themselves with other churches, if any. And we certainly ought to try to keep our young people in our Lutheran church, whether it be best done by the use of the English or the Norwegian language.

It is very difficult to lay down rules for this work. Although the problem exists everywhere, it assumes different aspects in the different places, and to meet it requires patient study and much sympathy, but it is worth the effort. I am not sure whether it would not be a good thing even to encourage the use of English in some churches; it would sometimes be a stimulus to the young people especially, even though there is no definitely felt pressure in that respect. I think it would be an asset for some church in the future to have had some such work begun in its midst.

I have spoken of the people's attitude towards this problem. The minister's attitude also is sometimes a very definite thing. Because of lacking ability to use the English language as freely as he would like to, he is averse to introducing English work, and where it could not be done under his own supervision, he is hardly willing to depute the work to some one else, fearing that that part of the work may slip away from under his hands. And so he sticks to the Norwegian at all hazards, thereby certainly doing harm to the work.

A somewhat new feature has also appeared in the ministerial field, and this is a result of the changing conditions under which we live. That is, we have ministers, who having been born in this country, have received their education mainly in the English language; I wish to add as a parenthesis, that there is less excuse for an American born Norwegian minister not to use the Norwegian language decently, than there is for a Norwegian born and educated minister to use the English language correctly. Such ministers therefore who prefer the English language themselves are very apt to look upon the Norwegian as something with which they need not exert themselves very seriously; and the less interest they show towards the Norwegian, the more will it suffer at their hands.
This will also work very definite harm, because it is then overlooked, that the root and stem of our churches so far as Norwegian, a fact,

MRS. EMILY L. BRATT DEAD

Paralysis Cause of Death—Funeral at Clute's School House Fort Ripley Monday

Mrs. Emily L. Bratt, widow of Alva M. Bratt, died Saturday morning of paralysis, having received the first stroke of that malady on April 10.
The deceased leaves a sister Mrs. Mary E. Smith, 79 Montgomery Street, Gloversville, New York; a brother Charles Morrison at Johnston, New York. They were not able to attend the funeral which was held at the Clute schoolhouse in Fort Ripley at 2:30 this afternoon. She was laid to rest there at Oak Hill cemetery beside her husband.

Mrs. Bratt was born on December 14, 1841 at Johnston, New York, her maiden name being Emily Lida Morrison. She was married to Alva M.
Bratt in 1873 at the same place. They came to Minnesota in 1882 and settled on their homestead at Fort Ripley, living there for nineteen years.

They came to Brainerd in 1901, where Mr. Bratt lived but a month.
The widow then made her home in and near Brainerd for the last thirteen years. She had been living with her foster child, Mrs. Wm. Mac-Donald.

Now Comes the "Tango Foot." Dr. Boehme of Berlin says he has discovered a new disease, the "tango foot." He attributes it to the extraordinary movements of the foot and ankle in executing the tango, maxixe and other new dances. Pains which resemble rheumatism develop in the calf of the leg, the shin and the ankle and increase until they often become agonizing.

which it is very essential to keep in mind.

It is not my intention to broach the question of preserving the Norse language in general; that is a different subject; but the question with which we are concerned just now touches that larger one at many points and is vitally related to it. But allow me to say that one of the present needs in our churches is to have bilingual men in the ministry. And it is possible for our ministers to use both languages in preaching as well as in daily conversation. True, we do not expect the American born Norwegian to be able to use the Norwegian language as idiomatically correct as he who only yesterday came over from Christiania or Bergen or Trondhjem; neither do we generally expect the men who have not gone through the grades of the public schools here to be able in their pronunciation to distinguish to perfection between the niceties of the English language. These are matters temporal and sometimes physical; but any man of average intelligence and ability will be able to express his thoughts in either language grammatically and logically correct, and that ought to satisfy any fair minded hearer.

Turning away therefore from all personal views and inclinations and interests and looking to the welfare of the whole field; we have to realize that the English problem, which is here, has to be met, thoughtfully, intelligently and sympathetically.

Another thing: We have not enough of English literature in the form of periodicals; we have no English Sunday school paper, no paper for the young people in that language. Our Sunday schools fall back for English papers on American publications, for instance, those published by David C. Cook Co., which are very cheap, but they do not always serve our purpose; then I think it would be better to secure some of the English Lutheran publications, for instance, from the General Synod, if we cannot get anything of our own. Perhaps some arrangement could be made with the United Church regarding English literature. It costs money and takes time to get up something in that line worth while, and anything else we cannot use.

I might add, that it would perhaps not be amiss if we had a little more English at our kredsmoder, I think it would be a wise thing to arrange for something along that line; the time will come when we shall have to use more English than we do at our annual meeting.

Now, what I have said is merely an outline. I leave it with you to fill in and make comments, and to add what I have omitted, but the general impression which I would like to leave upon your minds is this: We must not look askance at the demands made upon us for English work in our churches, to some extent it is necessary even to encourage it; on the other hand we must regard the Norwegian work with due deference, and not try to get rid of it as quickly as possible, but rather stick to it tenaciously if need be, rather than be Americanized too soon. But let us remember that little by little we are nearing the time when the English language will be the prevailing one in our churches and the question will then be how to preserve our Norwegian mother tongue on this side of the sea. We prepare ourselves for this change by exhibiting an intelligent attitude towards the language of our adopted country and by meeting with sympathetic insight the demands made upon us for English work in our churches.

May God speed the English Conference of the Free Church.

A Medal of Blood.

Garibaldi was once presented with a medal made of his own blood. The giver was Dr. Manini of Naples, who was well known as a petrifactor and preserver of the human body. Dr. Manini in offering the gift to Garibaldi said that whenever the general looked at it it would brace him up for the last fight, and across the medal were engraved the words, "The Blood of Garibaldi is Forever Red." The strange medal is preserved by the general's descendants.

WHY PRESIDENT WILSON DROPPED THE NAME TOM.

Held That Three Spondees Aroused Levity in Hearer and Bearer.

The secret is out at last of how and why the Thomas came to be dropped from the name of Thomas Woodrow Wilson. The mystery was solved by a disclosure at the reunion of the class of 1889 at Wesleyan college, Middletown, Conn.

President Wilson was a professor at Wesleyan from 1888 to 1890. One evening in the course of a call on a fellow professor a discussion arose on names and their effect on success in life. According to the story, Mr. Wilson held that the effect of a name was due entirely to its formation in long or short syllables.

Though "some with impunity snatch opportunity," it was almost impossible, the future president thought, to achieve success if tagged with a name that ran all in dactyls. On the other hand, success was certain, if one's name consisted of one dactyl and one spondee, the result being that the human mind is pleasingly affected by the run of one long, two short and then two long syllables.

The next best sort of name, Mr. Wilson believed, was formed of two spondees, like "Woodrow Wilson," where the effect of the four long syllables was aided by the alliteration. But the worst sort of all was the name formed of three spondees, for the surplus of gravity in such a name always produced a reaction of levity both in the hearer and the bearer.

Identification Cards in Berlin Cabs. London May Adapt Them.

A simple innovation to assist forgetful folks to recover articles left by them in public vehicles is announced from Berlin. In future every taxi and horse cab in the German capital will be provided with a little box filled with cards bearing the identification number of the vehicle. The traveler is requested to help himself from the box.

That the introduction in London of the same method for tracing lost property more quickly would not be out of place is shown by the fact that last year no fewer than 84,576 objects were found and "deposited at Scotland Yard by drivers and conductors of public vehicles. The British climate is responsible for the fact that the largest number of these objects were umbrellas, of which 32,250 were lost and found. Next come grips and satchels, 10,164.

"The Race to the Swift," quoted the sage, "But poverty gets to you quicker," added the fool.—Exchange.

There is more catarrh in the nose of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE first requisite of a soap for the toilet is mildness. Mildness depends upon the quality of the materials used in the making, the absence of free alkali and the absence of bleaches, fillers and other foreign matter.

Ivory Soap is made of the best materials that can be bought. It contains no free alkali. Nothing is put into it to make it white, to increase its weight or to soften water.

That is why Ivory Soap is so mild that it can be used with comfort and safety on the tender skin of a child.
